

I am Breannah Davis-Bloom, daughter of William and Katrina Davis; granddaughter of Attorney H. Glenn and Geraldine Davis and Harold and Yolanda Hairston; niece of Richard and Debra Bloom Hairston; goddaughter of Debra Jeter and Michael and Barbara Creswell. As the only girl of five children, I understand the importance of hard-work, tenacity and taking advantage of each and every opportunity that is presented. Attending college is a life-long dream that I have worked diligently and strategically to fulfill. As the time is upon me, I find myself faced with a number of financial obstacles. Thus, I am asking that you assist me in this quest. Any financial assistance you are able to render will be greatly appreciated. Let me tell you a little about myself. I am a dual enrolled, senior at Carver High School and Career Center taking several advanced placement and college credit courses. While excelling in the classroom, I am active in athletics and a number of extracurricular activities and organizations. I am a member of the Winston-Salem/Forsyth County Schools (WSFCS) Superintendent's Student Advisory Council where I am afforded the leadership experience and opportunity to provide feedback and ideas for Superintendent Donald Martin on many student related issues. I am also a member of the Simmons Memorial Foundation Potential on the Periphery Program, an organization that mentors and provides valuable resources for at-risk college bound youth. In the Fall of this year, I was pleased to serve on the WFSFC and Winston-Salem Chamber of Commerce Student Race Relations Forum during National Cities Race Equality Week. I was able to share a plethora of enlightening information on current student diversity issues and race relations. At Carver High School I participate in five sports. My primary sport is basketball for which I train daily honing my skill and talent. In the off-season, I play volleyball, softball, cross-country and track and field to keep my body physically fit. I have served as captain, been selected first-team all-conference and been voted Most Valuable Player in three of these five sports. In the midst of this demanding schedule, by God's grace I've managed to maintain a 4.0 weighted grade point average. School and athletics occupy much of my time. I am able, however, to find time to give back to the community. I am a mentor, youth advisor and children's church teacher at Mt. Moriah Outreach Center in Kernersville, North Carolina where Bishop Todd Fulton is my pastor. At area recreation centers, YMCAs and local parks it is a pleasure to teach youth the game of basketball. I have an opportunity to share my skills, talent and knowledge of the game. It has been rewarding to have trained, laid a foundation, sparked an interest or empowered a young athlete whose upside is so bright and potential unlimited. We are all facing tough financial times so any financial contribution you are able to make towards my college education will be greatly appreciated. Your help propels me one step closer to fulfilling my dream. Donation and advertising information is on the back of this brochure. Thanks, in advance, for your assistance and prayers as I press toward fulfilling my dream. Sincerely,

Breannah Davis-Bloom

What Is Jabberwock?

Biannually the Winston-Salem Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc. sponsors a scholarship fundraiser and cotillion entitled, "The Jabberwock". The Delta Jabberwock spans over a period of six months featuring a plethora of cultural, educational, and social opportunities for junior and senior high school female participants. Jabberwock is comparable to a rites of passage experience, culminating in an evening of absolute sophisticated elegance. These activities are designed to minimize the challenges encountered with the transition from high school to young adulthood, while promoting harmonious relationships among the participants and their families, friends and the community-at-large. The ultimate goal rests with assisting young women of color in becoming productive contributing future leaders in their communities and beyond. The Jabberwock is a time honored tradition of the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority. For 2011, the Jabberwock will feature a formal dance, several social activities and culminate with crowning of "Miss Jabberwock 2011". The program will also introduce the contestants to the community using a Rainbow 2011 theme in recognition of the revival of poet Ntozake Shange's "For Colored Girls Who Have Considered the Rainbow..."
